One historic figure has made his way back to Downtown Zanesville, in the form of a bronze statue.

This life-size statue of Karl Kappes arrived today outside of the Muskingum County Welcome Center; and it's an important part of Zanesville's pottery heritage.

"Karl Kappes was a Zanesville native, who, after studying abroad in Germany and Paris, was an artist for the Weller Pottery Company," says Dana Matz with the Zanesville Downtown Association. "We thought with the significance of the Pottery history in our community that it would be a nice piece to compliment the Potter that's on the side of the building."

Soon, other statues will join Kappes around Downtown Zanesville. The Muskingum County Chamber of Commerce hired Allen Cottril to make these historical statues to teach travelers and locals a little bit about Zanesville's heritage.

"We're excited," says Matz "All the traffic that goes on the interstate, when people get off they'll be able to see and learn more about the heritage of our community."

The other statues will be of Zanesville Natives, who add to the city's history.
